

HANNAH SOPHIE DUNKELBERG

Born in Bonn, Germany in 1987, Dunkelberg now lives and works in Berlin. She studied at HfBK, Academy of Fine Arts Hamburg with Pia Stadtbäumer and graduated from the University of Arts Berlin/ UdK as a Meisterschülerin in the class of Prof. Manfred Pernice.

Hannah Sophie Dunkelberg works in a lineage of artists who push against sculpture's stability, dismantling the integrity of modernism's fetishistic status and re-mixing styles from industrial processes and regional craftsmanship.

Dunkelberg's work goes materially against the grain, the practice is labor-intensive and reflects her enthusiasm for craftsmanship. Imitating the movement of the brushstroke, the artist translates fluid gestures which function as molds for her synthetic (Pet-g) wall reliefs.

Ultimately, Dunkelberg's interest lies in the agency of her objects. Her elements often act as reminders, an anecdotal quality is at play.

But then she perverts the familiar and turns it into a material madness. In doing so, she narrates the interdependence between abstraction and meaning by employing signifiers of social status and cultural value Foundation and has received funding from the Karl Hofer Society Berlin, the DAAD, the BBK Berlin and the Stiftung Kunstfonds.

Her work has been exhibited at the Haus am Lützowplatz Studio Gallery, Kunstverein Rosa-Luxemburg-Platz, Museum für Fotografie, the Efremidis Gallery, the Julia Stoschek Collection and the Boros Foundation/Berghain in Berlin.
